

Q1. Water boils at 100 degree Celsius. At high mountains, it boils at a lower temperature because air pressure is less.

Q2. Addition means putting things together to get the total. We use the plus sign for it.

Q3. The sun is a star made of hot gases. It gives light and heat.

Q4. This house uses solar panels and rainwater collection.

